

January 21, 2022

Dear Students,

Executive Vice-President for Education

Notice : Conducting Classes between late January to the end of March 2022

The situation of COVID-19 infections is getting worse, as the number of areas subject to pre-emergency measures to prevent the spread of the disease has been expanded.

Therefore, we would like to inform you that, as a general rule, classes during the following period will be conducted through distance learning (online). However, some classes may be conducted face-to-face depending on the characteristics of the class, so please check the notices of your faculty or graduate school for details.

In addition, there is a possibility that the examination method will be changed for the end-of-term examinations, so please confirm with your faculty or graduate school for details.

[Implementation of the distance learning (online) period is as follows.]

- January 21 (Fri.) to February 13 (Sun.)
- February 22 (Tuesday) to February 24 (Thursday)
- March 9 (Wed.) to March 11 (Fri.)
