Kagoshima de SDGs in the Field

Volcanoes and Disaster Prevention: Field Trip to Sakurajima

Intensive Course · Fall Semester 2026

An interdisciplinary and international collaborative learning course exploring the natural environment, volcanic activity, and disaster prevention in Kagoshima through lectures, field observations, and discussions.

COURSE SCHEDULE

December 5, 2026 (Sat)
Lecture (on campus)
Morning (tentative)

February 12, 2027 (Fri)
Field Study (Sakurajima)
9:00–17:00

February 13 (Sat) or 14 (Sun), 2027
Discussion and summary (on campus)
Morning (tentative)

* On-campus lecture and discussion dates may change depending on participants' schedules.

ELIGIBILITY

Undergraduate and graduate students (Japanese and international students)

CAPACITY

Around 20 participants

LOCATION

Kagoshima University Korimoto campus and Sakurajima

REGISTRATION

Center for General Education,
Kagoshima University
Email: kuniyok@km.kagoshima-u.ac.jp

REGISTRATION DEADLINE

November 23, 2026 (Mon)

COURSE FEATURES

Observe volcanic features and local disaster prevention efforts. Discuss volcanic hazards and sustainability across cultures.

LEARNING METHODS

Lectures, field observations, group discussions.

LANGUAGE

The main language of instruction will be Japanese and English.